Dear Candido:

Thank you for introducing HBA Insurance Group to the Foresight MDP training program. We had our support executives participate in the program last year with outstanding results.

Our return on investment on this program has been beyond our expectations. As a result of applying the ideas and techniques in customer retention, last year we retained 2% more of our present customers, representing several million dollars in business. We also upgraded and have been successful with our recruiting techniques. It was especially gratifying to see our managers grow during the process.

Also, your professionalism, excellent facilitation skills, availability and flexibility have earned the respect of all of us at HBA.

We just started the second year of our relationship and training partnership with your company by signing up for the Advanced MDP series for this year, as we consider it a good investment.

I have no hesitation in recommending the Foresight MDP to progressive companies whom believe in the growth and development of their managers.

The Foresight MDP really works!

Sincerely,
